

Guest Lecture on Personality Grooming

By Mr. Amit Ghadiyali,
HOD, Anjuman-I-Islam's Institute of Hotel Management & Catering Technology

On 15th July 2017

IIBM organised a guest lecture for students of SYMMS 2016-18 Batch on Personality grooming and corporate etiquettes by Mr. Amit Ghadiyali, (Head of Department, Food & Beverages Services at Anjuman Islamiya Institute of Hotel Management and Catering Technologies). He spoke about how students should carry themselves in the corporate environment as well as during job interviews and presentations. How grooming themselves has now become an essential part of corporate life. When we feel good only then we can make others feel good too. Every student was made to tell a few basic things about themselves to enhance their personality and soft skills.

Many concepts or methods of grooming have become clear, and students are enlightened with it. Now when it comes to landing that executive position at work, students can make sure their grooming is up to date beforehand. He also spoke briefly about body language and how it is important as a part of our indirect communication. Students of SYMMS who attended the session benefitted a lot from this session and look forward to more such sessions in future.
